Clinical Mental Health Counseling

Clinical Mental Health Counseling graduates may qualify to become a licensed counselor in their state by meeting individual state requirements. State requirements will vary and can change, but all require mental health counselors to pass one or more National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC) exams like the National Counselor exam (NCE) and the National Clinical Mental Health Counseling Exam (NCMHCE). Some states may require state-specific exams, as well. Licensure pass rates are not automatically reported to the institution from which a student graduates.
